

Trade Show Presentations

Attract attention & deliver your message

Charles Greene III Corporate Magician

When Charles presents, it's your message on center stage. From technical products to conceptual services, Greene can script a presentation that will educate attendees about your offerings. Just ask the corporations such as Clorox, Frito-Lay, Johnson & Johnson who have repeatedly called on Charles to communicate their exhibit messages.

Your logo, product information, and marketing message can be incorporated into an exhibit presentation that will impress your boss and inform attendees. Your company's detailed information will be delivered by a spokesperson who can both captivate attention and communicate your message. You'll increase your exhibit's visibility and extend your message far beyond the trade show floor.

Charles creates memorable presentations that place your company in the spotlight. By adding Charles to your exhibit team you'll maximize your message and get the attention that you need to succeed.

Educate & fascinate your exhibit audience

- The expression of your personality during the presentations made our potential customers comfortable in our midst. They genuinely enjoyed themselves and were receptive to our messages. You set the tone for the show and fit right in with our sales representatives. Second, your ability to weave our company's message into your act was excellent. – 3M
